

CALIFORNIA ALLIANCE TO PROTECT PRIVATE PROPERTY RIGHTS

September 21, 2006

Dear Friends and Supporters,

As you are well aware, the California Alliance to Protect Private Property Rights was founded in response to Yolo County's decision to use gambling profits to seize the Conaway Ranch from its unwilling sellers.

Thanks to your support and so many more, our efforts to protect Conaway Ranch have been successful. After almost two years of legal battles and considerable community opposition, Yolo County has agreed to abandon their claim to Conaway Ranch.

While our efforts to protect Conaway Ranch were successful, nothing will prevent such an egregious example of abuse from occurring again. To date, no legislative reforms have been adopted by either Congress or our State Legislature.

Our organization was founded for a purpose of reforming eminent domain abuse and our job is not done. We will continue our efforts to build political pressure on our state's leaders so that government will no longer profit from seizing private property from one and giving to another.

With your continued support, we can ensure that our homes, family farms and businesses are protected from eminent domain abuse.

Thank you again for your support now and in the future.

Sincerely,
